

Authors

Paolo Bertuletti, is a research fellow at the Department of Human and Social Sciences, University of Bergamo. His current research focuses on VET and Early Childhood Education and Care. He is also the editor-in-chief of the journals CQIIA Rivista and Nuova Professionalità.

Giulia Ghitti, earned a PhD in Formazione della persona e mercato del lavoro at the University of Bergamo. She now works in the Higher Technical Vocational Education and Training sector.

Andrea Potestio, is full professor at the Department of Human and Social Sciences, University of Bergamo, where he heads the bachelor degree program in Educational Science. His main areas of research are pedagogy of work and philosophy of education. He is also director of the journal CQIIA Rivista.

Martina Monteverde, is a PhD student in Teaching & Learning Sciences at the University of Macerata. Her research interest concern early intervention, learning disabilities and teachers' professional development. Among her publications: (with D. Bullegas and A. Mura) Early intervention and professional development: a Narrative Synthesis on Teachers' Perceptions about Response to Intervention (2024), Italian Journal of Special Education for Inclusion (2024).

Daniele Bullegas, Ph.D, is a Research assistant of Didactics and Special Pedagogy at the University of Cagliari. His research interests concern parent education, reflective practices in teacher education and neurodevelopmental disorders. Among his publications: (with A. Mura, A. L. Zurru, I. Tatulli), ADHD a scuola: analisi dei bisogni e traiettorie trasformative per la formazione dei docenti, Giornale Italiano dei Disturbi del Neurosviluppo (2022); (with A. Mura, A. Mallus), Professionalità docente e competenze socio-emotive: traiettorie teorico-operative per la formazione degli

Educational Reflective Practices (ISSNe 2279-9605), 2/2024

Doi: 10.3280/erpoa2-2024oa19012

Copyright © FrancoAngeli

This work is released under Creative Commons Attribution - Non-Commercial –

No Derivatives License. For terms and conditions of usage

please see: <http://creativecommons.org>

insegnanti. Annali online della Didattica e della Formazione Docente (2023); (with A. Mura) ADHD in famiglia: pratiche riflessive a supporto della genitorialità, Educational Reflective Practices (2023).

Antonello Mura, is Full Professor of Didactics and Special Pedagogy at University of Cagliari and currently Head of the Faculty of Humanistic Studies. His research interests focus primarily on historical-epistemological investigation of Special Pedagogy, family associations, teacher education and educational guidance. Among his publications: Diversità e inclusione. Prospettive di cittadinanza tra processi storico culturali e questioni aperte, FrancoAngeli (2016); Orientamento formativo e Progetto di vita, FrancoAngeli (2018); Pedagogia Speciale: attualità e scenari possibili tra epistemologia e dimensioni operative, in Caldin R., Pedagogia speciale e didattica speciale, vol. 2, Erickson, 2022; (with A. L. Zurru) Il “pensare” e il “fare” inclusivo: libertà e responsabilità nella professionalità dell’insegnante in Giaconi C. Aiello P, L’agire inclusivo. Interfacce pedagogiche e didattiche. Manuale per l’insegnante, Morcelliana (2024).

Francesca Latino, Researcher in Special Pedagogy and Educational Research at the “Pegaso” University of Naples - Department of Psychology and Education. She is author of several publication about the methodology of teaching-learning of physical education at different ages in national and international journals, targeting her interest of study to the promotion of pedagogical interventions aimed at improving learning, the prevention of sedentarism and the acquisition of motor competences. Moreover, the inclusion methodologies and the consideration of the different educational systems with regard to students’ education are among her main research interests.

Francesco Tafuri, PhD in “Epistemology and Neuroscience applied to Education” from the Niccolò Cusano Telematics University of Rome, Member of the Scientific and Editorial Committees of the Pedagogical and Motorsport Sector.

He is a member of the research team of the Heracle Lab Research in Educational Neuroscience, at the Niccolò Cusano University. Current and main research topics refer to the Didactics of Motor and Sports Activities, Special Pedagogy and, in particular, the Pedagogy of Marginality and Deviation. He is Author of numerous scientific publications in national and international journals, including monographs, volume essays, and articles in international journals.

Davide Di Palma, is Associate Professor in Didactics and Special Pedagogy at the University of Campania “Luigi Vanvitelli”. Author of numerous publications in prestigious national and international Journals and Publishing Houses; his main topics of research concern: Inclusive Didactics, Special Pedagogy and Physical and Sports Education.

Maria Giovanna Tafuri, is a PhD in Equity, Diversity and inclusion and currently carries out research and training at Pegaso University (Italy). Her main topics of interest are special education, inclusive teaching processes and motor and sports sciences.

Silvia Mugnaini, is a PhD Candidate in Educational Science and Psychology at the University of Florence. As a scholar, she engages in collaborative research to investigate and develop sustainability competences in Third Sector Organizations. She uses an inter and transdisciplinary approach involving adult education, sustainability science, and participatory design.

Maria Grazia Proli, an architect with research experience in European projects oriented towards the education professionals in multicultural school and social contexts, is a PhD student in Educational Sciences and Psychology, a member of the RESILIENT Research Unit and of the Narrative Methodologies and Migrant Memories Laboratory at the Department of Education, Languages, Interculture, Literature and Psychology of the University of Florence.

Her main research interests concern the Pedagogy of Urban Places, educational and training processes for lifelong learning and longevity in an intergenerational perspective, and methodological approaches based on art and creativity (Art-Based Research Methods).

Caterina Garofano, holds a Ph.D. in Learning and Innovation in Social and Work Contexts at University of Siena. She is a research fellow at the University of Siena. Her research interests focus on professional development of educators, the kids market, design and production of educational artifacts for learning.

Claudia Banchetti, Ph.D. in Learning and Innovation in Social and Work Contexts at University of Siena. She is a research fellow at the University of Siena.